Hi, it's been a long time since I did that work, so I will have to try hard to remember what I did. The tone control PCB comes out by removing the knobs and nuts under the knobs. I think that then you can unplug the cables to it. I put in sockets for the new IC's followed by a lot of new caps. I think I have pictures somewhere, but not on this computer, sorry. Let me know if I can do anymore for you. BTW, I used the Onkyo to drive my Acoustat 11's for about a year. I liked it a lot. Good Luck, bobwire
