

Components for the crossover network are both large and expensive. Don't try to economise though, as the design shown is vital for optimum performance. Note that R3 and R4 may be left out if the Celestion HF drive units are used.