

If you want to rule out the amp as being at fault you must use an RCA muting plug.
Take an old rca, cut one end off and twist the ground and positive together.

Plug it into the amp, power it up - if you still hear hum it is the amp.
If no hum..it is not the amp.